

I think any form of communication involving public safety should not be hindered in any way and Traffic and Weather fit this category for sure!.Regular radio stations need not worry because there will always be the crowd that won't pay for satellite radio and want free radio.And if by chance everyone does go satellite broadcast radio will just have to accept it much like the telegraph did when telephone came about.
in summary 'Do not block satellite radio from airing traffic and weather"and also don't force them to carry local radio stations.If we want to listen to them we will.
